Derek Attridge
Professor of English and Related Literature,
University of York

“Character and Counterfocalization:
Coetzee’s Kafkan Modernism”

Thursday, March 19, 2015, 4:30pm
Hollis E. Cornell Auditorium, Goldwin Smith Hall

Preceded by a seminar with Derek Attridge
“The Work of Literature”
Thursday, March 19, 2015, 10:00am to 12:00pm
English Lounge, 258 Goldwin Smith Hall

Please RSVP for the seminar by email to:
ser93@cornell.edu

For relevant materials please visit:
http://english.arts.cornell.edu/news/events/
or email: ser93@cornell.edu

Derek Attridge teaches in the Department of English and Related Literature at the University of York, UK, and is a Fellow of the British Academy. A former Guggenheim Fellow, Leverhulme Research Professor and All Souls Visiting Fellow, Oxford, he is currently John P. Birkeland Senior Fellow at the National Humanities Center, North Carolina. He is the author or editor of over twenty books on literary theory, poetic form, and Irish and South African literature. His most recent publication was Moving Words: Forms of English Poetry (Oxford University Press), and forthcoming in 2015 are The Work of Literature (Oxford University Press) and, with Henry Staten, The Craft of Poetry: Dialogues on Minimal Interpretation (Routledge).